

This the Main Page:

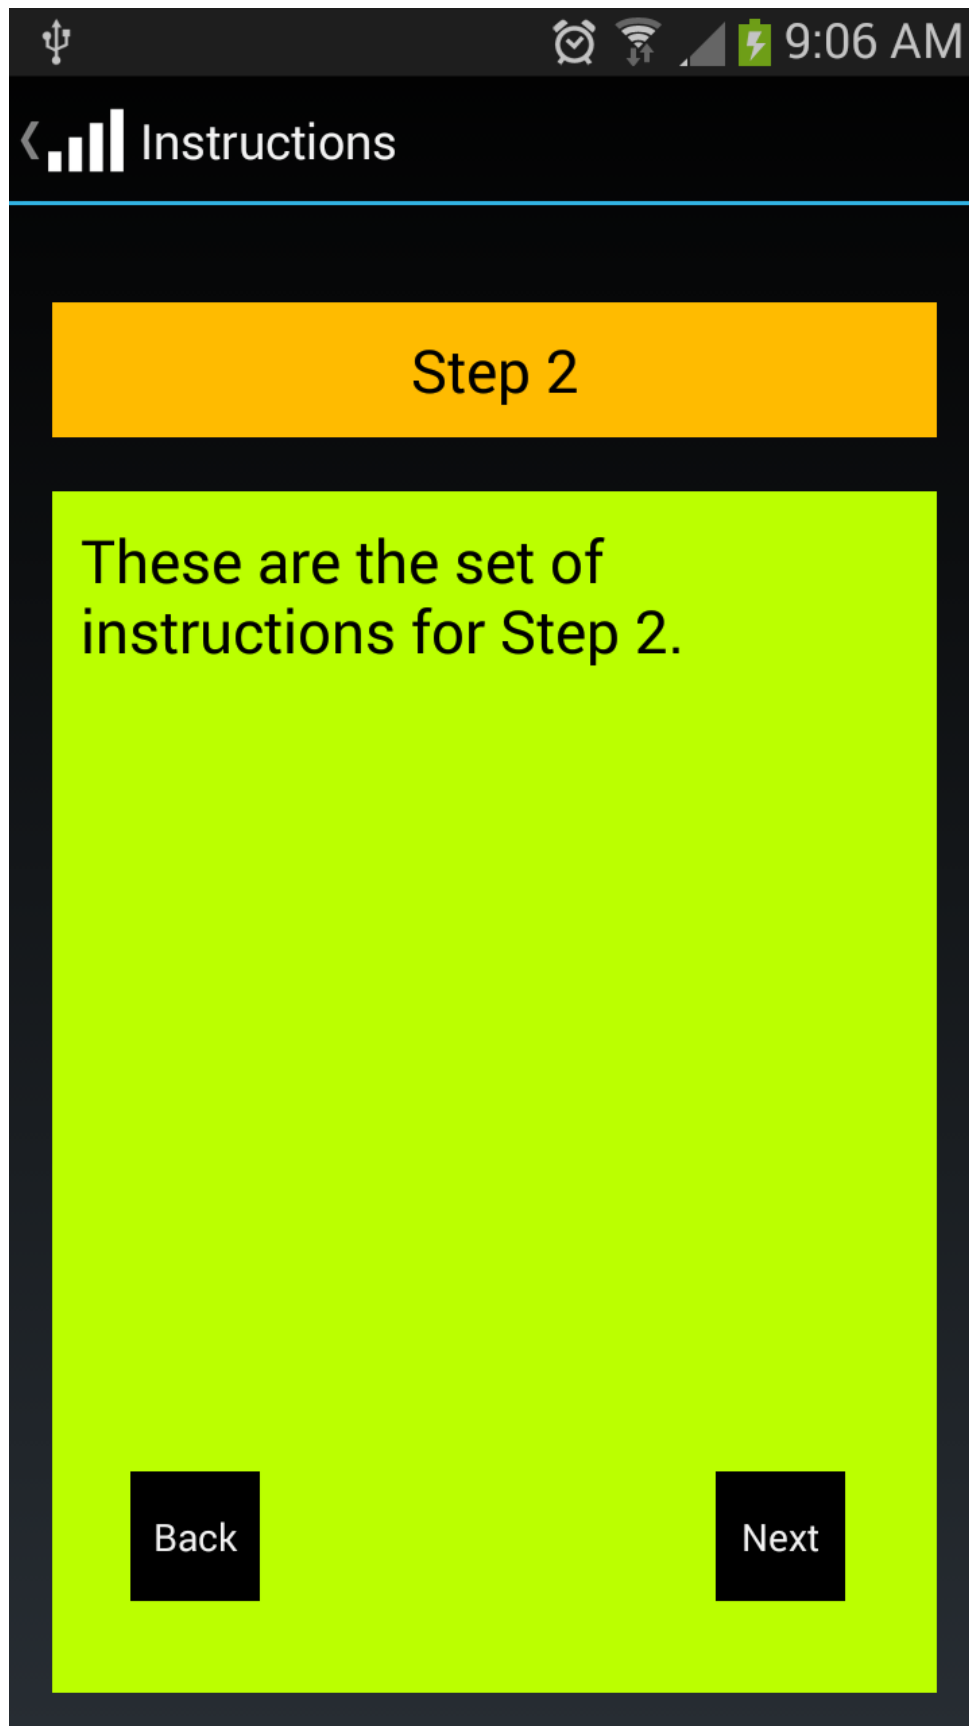

The action-bar item opens an overflow through which you can select a screen:

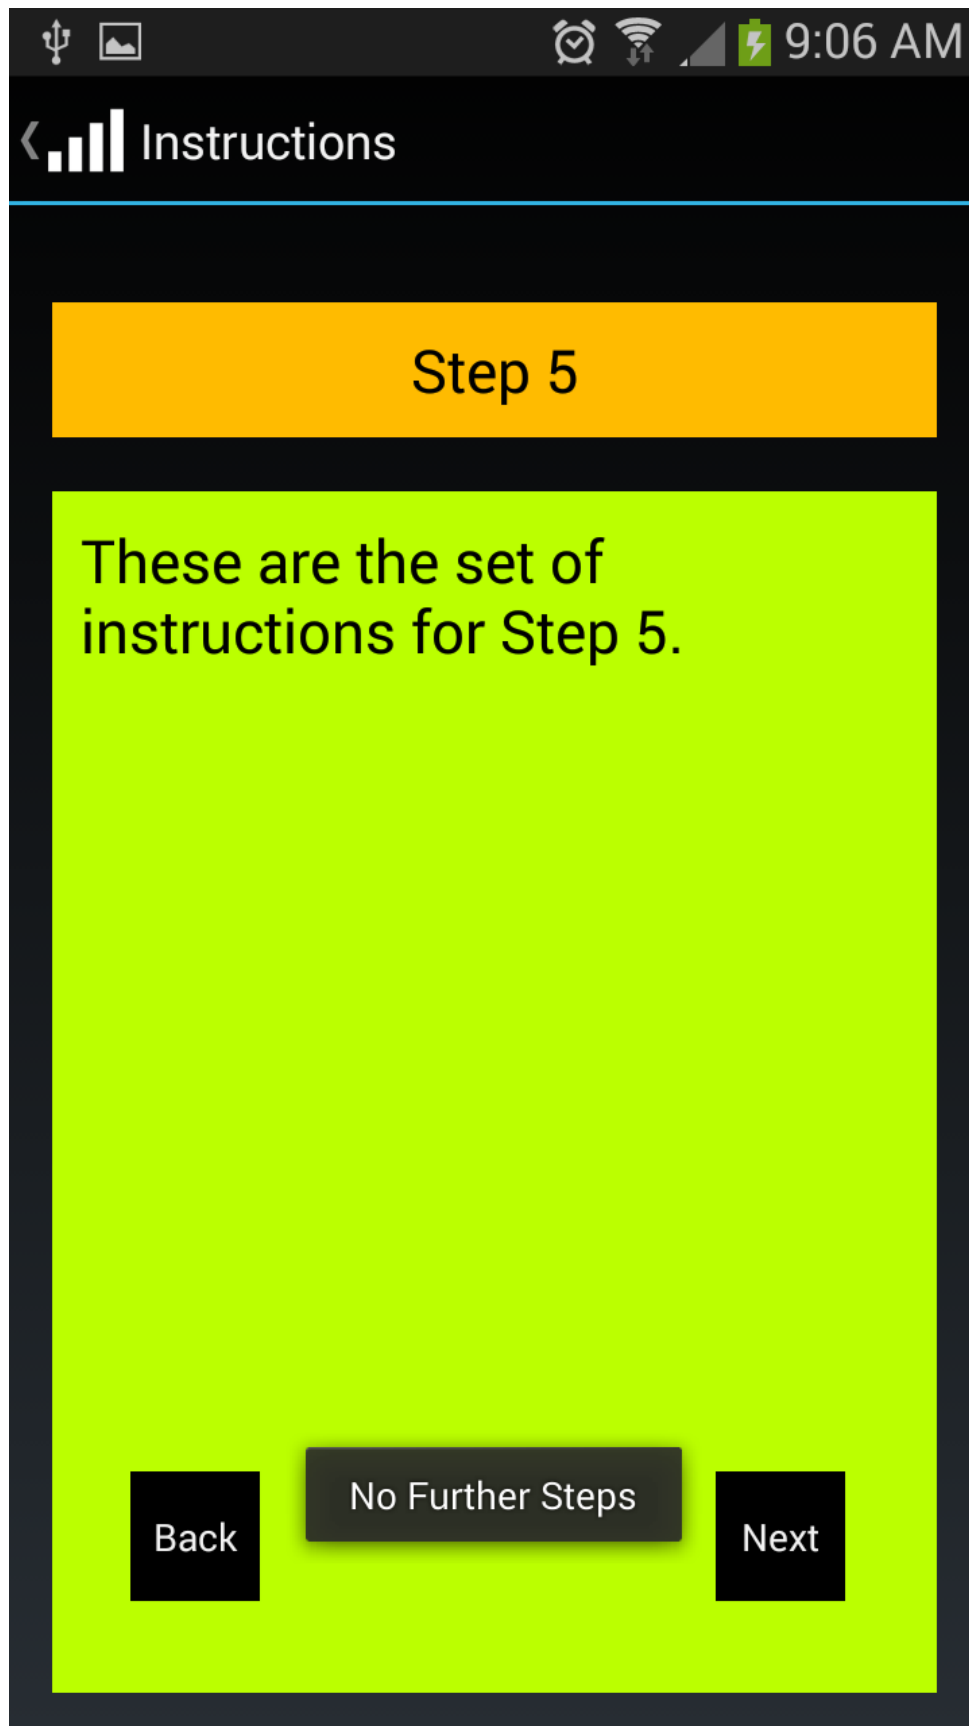

The instructions page, the yellow box is the heading and the green the content:

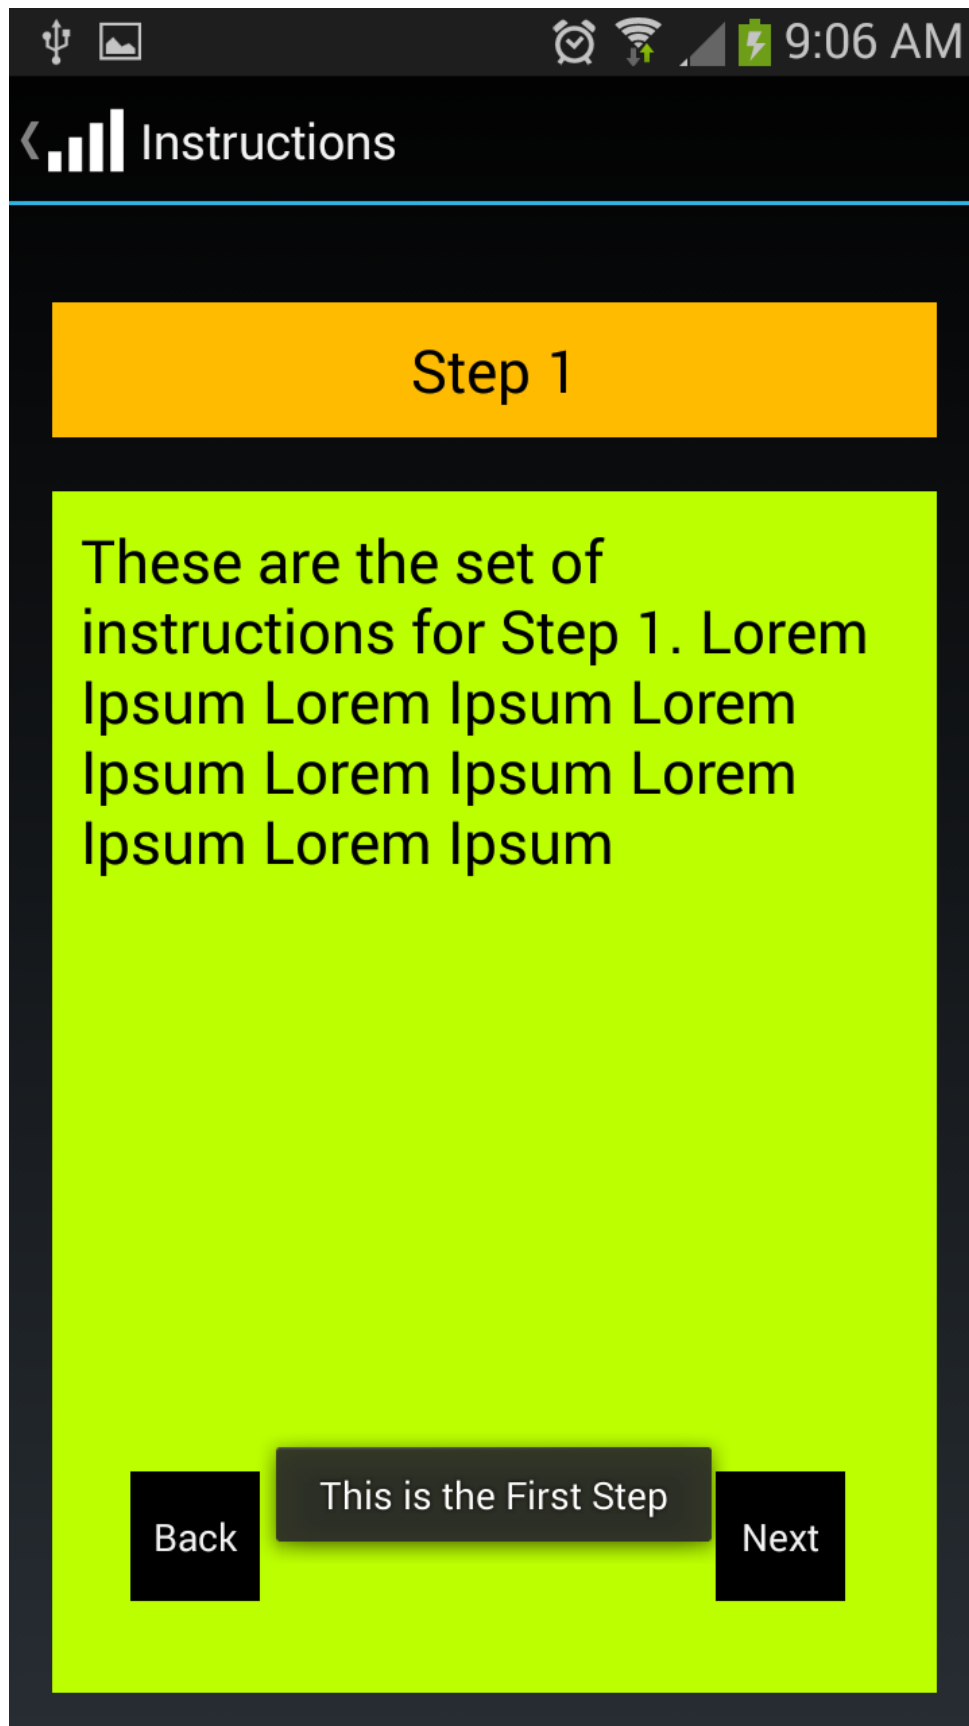

The next button just changes the data on the screen (done using string-arrays):

Upon reaching the final page, doesn't let user go further (displays message):

Upon reaching back to the first page, doesn't let user go lower (displays message):

If "Reader" is selected from homepage the following data shows:

